The Official Family Newsletter for Summit Charter School

Volume 7

Dear Summit Family,

This week our Virtue of the Week is Giving. As a K-12 school community, we have defined the following actions and mindsets that demonstrate perseverance each day: “We can help when we see a need. We can share and take turns. We can be generous with our time and resources. We can give ourselves grace.” The virtue of Giving is very much reflected in the strength of our Summit Family. We are fortunate to be the school we are because of the dedication, selflessness, and generosity of countless families, students, faculty, and community members who have shared their talents and resources in nurturing the growth of our school over generations. As a school, it is our intention to foster this same value of Giving in the education of our students, so that they, too, may share their talents and hearts in service of others in their lives beyond.

This past weekend was yet another example of the impact of Giving as we came together to celebrate SummitFest. A special thanks to Sarah Burnette and all of our parents who volunteered their time and talents to make SummitFest such a success. We are so grateful!

This week, we’re excited to also celebrate the joy of reading at Summit with our fall Book Fair. We invite families and community members to stop by the Book Fair this week in the Summit library to browse this fall’s collection of books and gifts!

With gratitude,
Kurt

Giving

“Remember that the happiest people are not those getting more, but those giving more.” — H. Jackson Brown Jr.

As a K-12 school community, we defined the following ways that we live our virtue of Giving:

- We can help when we see a need.
- We can share and take turns.
- We can be generous with our time and resources.
- We can give ourselves grace.
